Course Overview

CRIM323 is a course designed to introduce students to the academic, political, legal and social analyses on crimes of the state. The course will examine the theoretical perspectives that underpin criminological writings on state crime. Through case-study material, from New Zealand and around the world, state crime is shown to be diverse in nature, destructive in impact and, for the most part, hidden. The course will evaluate how state officials join with other actors – including personnel from corporations, militia groups, private contractors and trans-national financial bodies – to commit criminal activity.

The course will also examine debates within the 'transitional justice' arena. It will assess the responses to state crimes, examining international tribunals, truth commissions, regulatory bodies as well as grassroots resistance. Students will evaluate a range of practical and political issues such as the role of amnesties, prosecutions, reparations and reconciliation in the wake of state crime.

Course Objectives

By the end of CRIM323 students should be able to:

- interpret and critique the key theoretical debates relating to state crime (assessed through in-class test and assignment);
- critically assess crimes of the state in relation to case-study material (assessed through assignment);
- critically evaluate the official mechanisms and policies established to deal with state crime (assessed through in-class test).

Course Structure

The course combines lectures, class discussion, student presentations and tutorials in a format that aims to guide students through the major topic areas. There will be opportunity and encouragement for you to express your views and knowledge.

Workload

Taking into account class attendance, reading for tutorials, preparation for assignments and so on, students should spend around 16 hours per week working for CRIM323.

Course Readings

Key readings (marked with an *) are provided in the course notes for each weekly topic. Students will be expected to have read these in advance of the relevant session. A list of supplementary reading is also provided for each weekly session. Links to relevant internet sites will be posted on Blackboard. Students are expected to create their own reading lists for the research proposal and essay.

Course Assessment

CRIM323 is assessed by a combination of coursework and an in-class test. This range of assessment is linked directly to the course objectives.

Remember that Lizzy can help you to plan your work. Further, the University has a policy of reasonable accommodation of the needs of students with disabilities in examinations and other assessment procedures. For more information on this, students should contact Lizzy.

(i) Essay Proposal

Word Limit: No more than two pages (excluding reference list)

Percentage of Final Grade: 10%

Submission Date: Thursday 20 March 2008, by 4pm

You are required to provide a brief outline of your proposed essay. This should be a topic of your choice, but directly related to the course. In your proposal, you should provide: a title and proposed structure to the essay; the main issues you intend to address; a brief analysis of relevant research material. The proposal should be written in essay form and must be clearly referenced.

(ii) Research Essay

Word limit: 4500 words

Percentage of Final Grade: 60%

Submission Date: Friday 9 May 2008, by 4pm

The research essay is on a course-related topic, chosen by the student.

(iii) In Class Test

Test Length: 50 minutes

Percentage of Final Grade: 30%

Date: In Week Commencing 19 May 2008

You will be tested on topics directly linked to the course lectures, tutorials and readings. Further details will be given at a later date.

Assessment Guidelines

Coursework should be handed in on A4 paper (one side only) and should be typed. It is mandatory to present the Coursework with a School assignment Cover Sheet. It is important that you do not exceed the word limit. Students are advised that examiners may refuse to mark that part of the assignment in excess of the word limit.

The Institute insists on a high standard of written work from students. All assessments should follow Institute guidelines for referencing. These are detailed below. You should also ensure that you check thoroughly for spelling mistakes and grammatical errors. Careful proof reading is essential.

The following indicate the criteria that are used in marking:

1. Scope: Does the work include all the facts, theories and discussions relevant to the issue? Is it comprehensive?
2. Critical analysis: Does the writer show an adequately critical appraisal? Is the criticism constructive? Are the arguments logically valid? Is it free from irrelevancies and unsupported generalizations?

3. Originality: Is there clear evidence of original thinking? Does the writer contribute new viewpoints, or marshal and categorize her/his facts in a new way?
4. Referencing and Bibliography: Are the references relevant, comprehensive and up to date? Are the references correctly cited according to standard convention?
5. Communication: Does the work communicate the writer's ideas and knowledge well? Is the work well-structured with clear introductory and concluding sections? Is it concisely written and grammatically correct? Is it legible?

All written work should be placed in the essay box on the 9th floor of the Murphy building or sent to Elizabeth Stanley at the Institute (Institute of Criminology, Victoria University of Wellington, PO Box 600, Wellington) by courier or registered mail postmarked no later than 4pm on the due date.

Extensions

The coursework must be handed in by the due date. You are expected to keep to this deadline, as otherwise it is unfair to other students. Extensions will be granted only in exceptional circumstances, and should be sought from Lizzy prior to the deadline. An example of an exceptional circumstance would be illness supported by a letter from a medical practitioner. Please note that lack of organisation, word-processing failures and other work demands are not "good reasons".

Late submissions of work without permission will be penalised by the following deductions:

- One grade = period up to 24 hours past due date.
- Two grades = period more than 24 hours up to 72 hours past due date.

Work that is handed more than 72 hours late without permission will not be accepted.

Mandatory Course Requirements

The minimum course requirements are:

- To submit the essay proposal;
- To submit the essay;
- To attend the in-class test

School Assignment Cover Sheet

Please include a School Assignment Cover sheet when submitting your assignments. You may wish to have your own front sheet, but please ensure you place the School's cover sheet on the top as this ensures critical identifying information is provided. A sample School Assignment Cover sheet is at the end of this Outline.

Further copies may be found at the School Administration office, and on the Assignment Box, on level 9 of Murphy building.

Students MUST keep a photocopy of every written assignment

Unless students have followed this procedure, the School will not accept responsibility for pieces of written work claimed to have been handed in.

Plagiarism and Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is about honesty – put simply it means no cheating. All members of the University community are responsible for upholding academic integrity, which means staff and students are expected to behave honestly, fairly and with respect for others at all times.

Plagiarism is a form of cheating which undermines academic integrity. Plagiarism is prohibited at Victoria.

The University defines plagiarism as follows:

Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not.

'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea, even if it is presented in your own style. It includes material from books, journals or any other printed source, the work of other students or staff, information from the Internet, software programmes and other electronic material, designs and ideas. It also includes the organization or structuring of any such material.

Plagiarism is not worth the risk.

Any enrolled student found guilty of plagiarism will be subject to disciplinary procedures under the Statute on Student Conduct (www.victoria.ac.nz/policy/studentconduct) and may be penalized severely.

Consequences of being found guilty of plagiarism can include:

- an oral or written warning
- suspension from class or university
- cancellation of your mark for an assessment or a fail grade for the course.

Find out more about plagiarism and how to avoid it, on the University's website at: www.vuw.ac.nz/home/studying/plagiarism.html

Submitting Work That Has Been Submitted For Another Course

It is not acceptable for students to re-submit, in part or in whole, work that they have submitted for another course. If a student submits an essay which is textually the same, or partly the same, as that submitted for another course, then the Institute reserves the right to not accept the essay in question, which may result in the student failing terms.

General University Policies And Statutes

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar available in hardcopy or under "about Victoria" on the Victoria homepage at:
