2 KO NGĀ WHĀINGA ME NGĀ HUA Course Aims and Learning Objectives

2.1 Course Aims

The aim of this course is to develop student insight and understanding of the nature of both traditional and contemporary Māori culture, society and politics through the analysis and discussion of a range of Māori customary concepts.

2.2 Learning Objectives

Students will critically analyse a range of concepts such as utu, murū, raupatu, rāhui, and tapu amongst others, with a view to understanding both their traditional and contemporary significance. Students will be exposed to the concepts by reading and discussing the source material for the course. Students will develop skills in leadership, critical and creative thinking and communication through the facilitation of class discussions, the analysis of class reading materials, participation in class discussions and the production of publishable quality written assignments.

2.3 Goals

By the end of this course students who successfully complete will be able to:

- understand the place of traditional Māori concepts in contemporary Māori and New Zealand society today
- understand a range of Māori concepts and interpret them in terms of Māori meaning systems
- interpret Māori values and customs using a Māori conceptual framework
- evaluate and critically analyse the source material for the course
- demonstrate improved reading, comprehension and oral discussion skills within the framework of Māori discussion
- identify a range of the fundamental concepts, values and meaning systems of Māori society.

2.4 Expected Workload

Following the Faculty guidelines, an average student should expect to spend 200 hours on this course (including the scheduled lectures), spread over the teaching weeks and the mid-trimester break.

3 KO NGĀ TATAURANGA Assessment Requirements

3.1 Internal Assessment 100%

No final examination. This course is internally assessed and based on:

Attendance at and participation in class discussions with evidence of extensive reading, preparation for discussions and scholarly interest is required for this course. Because this course relies on student participation in class, the minimum class attendance requirement is 90% of all classes. The roll will be circulated at each class. This is worth 20% of the final mark.

3.2 Course Work Schedule

Test One	20 August	20%
Essay	6 September	30%
Essay Presentation	1-8 October	10%
Test Two	15 October	20%
Course Participation	Ongoing	20%

3.3 Tests 40%

Two in-class tests on 20 August and 15 October each worth 20% of the final mark. These will cover the concepts covered in class discussions and readings.

3.4 Essay (Due: 7 September) 30%

The completion of one major essay on a Māori customary concept is required for this course. Completing it and handing it in on time is one of the prerequisites for a pass. A list of concepts to base your essay on is included below. Students are encouraged to start planning the essay as early as possible. Students are not permitted to double up on topics.

3.5 Essay Presentation 10%

This will comprise a short presentation outlining the findings of your essay research. This will be done in ordinary class time to the class. Assessment sheets will be distributed later. Students will present in alphabetical order by surname.

3.6 Course Participation 20%

This course is taught primarily through class discussion and student participation. Students will be expected to contribute to all discussions by offering opinions, views and experiences on particular issues. Through participation, students should aim to demonstrate evidence of extensive reading and reflection on the kaupapa being dealt with. Therefore you must come to class having completed the readings for the session. Failure to do so will lead to a loss of marks.

3.7 Essay Notes

In the essay you should be aiming to bring a new understanding to the kaupapa that you are dealing with. This may mean that you are simply confirming what has already been written about the topic (if there has been anything written), or you may be rejecting or amending the literature and coming up with a new model. For most of you, this should involve producing an essay between these two extremes.

You are expected to produce between 3500 and 5000 words for the essay which should be of publishable quality. Assume that you are writing to submit the essay to the Journal of the Polynesian Society (JPS).

- It is highly recommended that you discuss your essay with the course coordinator before you start it.
- If you intend to use interview as a means of data collection then you will be required to complete a VUW Human Ethics approval form. These are available from the School Administrator.
- Your essay must be typed. You are expected to follow the requirements for presentation set out in the Te Kawa a Māui Academic Writing Guide 2007 Edition. A copy of the guide is available on the MAOR 313 Blackboard site. In addition, you are required to use the standard cover sheet for Te Kawa a Māui assignments. Hard copies of this are available by the Assignment Box.

3.8 Essay Concepts

Choose one of the following sets of concepts for your essay topic. No more than one student per topic. First in first served. Please advise Peter Adds by email about which topic you will do. Careful planning and time management will aid you in submitting your work by the required date. For your information, the following is the Te Kawa a Māui policy on late assignments.

By prior arrangement and only for very good reasons an extension might be granted. However, without an express extension from the Course Coordinator, (it is not sufficient to contact your tutor), the following late penalties will apply:

- 5% will be deducted for every day or part day that the assignment is late (including weekends). Note, 5% is equivalent to one grade – ie, from an A+ to an A
- after five days the assignment will be accepted for the purposes of meeting the 'course requirements' or 'terms' but no mark will be given.

9 ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND PLAGIARISM

Academic integrity means that university staff and students, in their teaching and learning are expected to treat others honestly, fairly and with respect at all times. It is not acceptable to mistreat academic, intellectual or creative work that has been done by other people by representing it as your own original work.

Academic integrity is important because it is the core value on which the University's learning, teaching and research activities are based. Victoria University's reputation for academic integrity adds value to your qualification.

The University defines plagiarism as presenting someone else's work as if it were your own, whether you mean to or not. 'Someone else's work' means anything that is not your own idea. Even if it is presented in your own style, you must acknowledge your sources fully and appropriately. This includes:

- material from books, journals or any other printed source
- the work of other students or staff
- information from the internet
- software programs and other electronic material
- designs and ideas
- the organisation or structuring of any such material.

Find out more about plagiarism, how to avoid it and penalties, on the University's website: <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/study/plagiarism.aspx>

10 GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND STATUTES

Students should familiarise themselves with the University's policies and statutes, particularly the Assessment Statute, the Personal Courses of Study Statute, the Statute on Student Conduct and any statutes relating to the particular qualifications being studied; see the Victoria University Calendar or go to the Academic Policy and Student Policy sections on:

<http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about/policy>

The AVC(Academic) website also provides information for students in a number of areas including academic grievances, student and staff conduct, meeting the needs of students with impairments, and student support/VUWSA student advocates. This website can be accessed at:

http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/about_victoria/avcacademic/Publications.aspx

11 WITHDRAWAL DATES

Have you changed your mind about the courses you want to do this trimester? If you do not withdraw from a course in time, you will receive a fail grade. A fail grade stays permanently on your academic record. You can avoid the fail grade by withdrawing properly from courses before it is too late!

It is not enough just to stop attending lectures and tutorials, or to tell your lecturer or school administrator. You must complete a course add/drop form, available from your Faculty, Student and Academic Services Office, and submit it by the due date.

Further information on withdrawals and refunds may be found at <http://www.victoria.ac.nz/home/admisenrol/payments/withdrawalsrefunds.aspx>
