PRESCRIPTION

This course introduces some of the key arguments and issues discussed in the rapidly developing field of new media studies. We examine how digital technologies (such as the Internet, digital music, video games) are transforming contemporary culture and every day life, and in turn, how cultural, economic, and political forces shape these technologies.

COURSE CONTENT

By interrogating the historical development of selected media from a variety of theoretical perspectives, we will examine how new cultural forms are made possible by various new technologies. These discussions will be embedded in an exploration of the social institutions that produce and distribute media texts and the different ways in which they are consumed.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES (CLOS)

Students who pass this course will be able to:

1. be familiar with recent and emerging theories of new media
2. demonstrate knowledge of recent and emerging methods of new media analysis
3. demonstrate further development of their written, spoken and visual communication literacies
4. demonstrate critical analytical skills in relation to new media theories and practices.

TEACHING FORMAT

The two-hour session on Wednesdays consists of a lecture and whole-class discussion time. The tutorial hour is the forum where you can ask questions about lecture and reading material as well as discuss the content and practice essay writing skills. Tutorials start in Week 2. Engagement with course materials and active participation in class discussion is expected.

MANDATORY COURSE REQUIREMENTS

In addition to achieving an overall pass mark of 50%, students must:

- Submit the written and oral work specified for this course, on or by the specified dates (subject to such provisions as are stated for late submission of work)
- Attend at least 7 out of 11 tutorials (subject to provisions for extenuating circumstances).

WORKLOAD

The expected workload for a 20-point course is 200 hours over the trimester or 13 hours per teaching week.

Assessment information

1. Short Essay (1,500 words) 30% Due Week 4 (Fri 9 August 2014, by 2pm)

This assessment asks you to engage with the materials in weeks 2–4. Select one reading from the set weekly readings for weeks 2–4 and write a critical response to it. To do this you need to:

- Identify the main thesis of the reading (what the writer is arguing).
- Assess the strengths and weaknesses of this argument.
- Define and demonstrate an understanding of the most salient key terms used by your chosen author.
- Use examples of new media texts or practices to demonstrate your understanding and to support your argument.

Write your critical response using the essay form. Include an introduction, a thesis statement (your own, not that of the selected author), topic sentences, presentation of argument & textual evidence and a conclusion. You should also include the correct bibliographic reference information for all sources used. To enhance the analytical dimension of your short essay we encourage you to cite the work of other authors in the field.

*This assessment relates to objectives 1, 2 and 3.

2. Essay (2,000 words) 40% Due Week 8 (Friday 19 September, by 2pm)

Essay questions will be posted on Blackboard in advance of the due date.

While your tutorial paper needs to be handed in to your tutor at the time of your tutorial, your short essay and long essay should be submitted to the department. Do not hand your short or long essay assignment in to a tutor or lecturer.

The criteria for assessing your short and long essay include:

*This assessment relates to objectives 1, 2, 3 and 4.

3. Tutorial Paper (1,000 words + panel discussion) 30% Sign-up in tutorial (between weeks 9–11)

This assessment asks you to engage with materials discussed between weeks 9–11 of the course. Once tutorials begin you will be asked to sign up to complete a Tutorial Paper on ONE of the three topics discussed between weeks 9–11. The topic questions will be posted on Blackboard. You write a 1,000 word essay that addresses your chosen topic. Bear in mind that your Tutorial Paper should have an analytical dimension and be structured in essay form (introduction, thesis statement, presentation of argument & textual evidence, conclusion).

An integral part of this assignment is sharing the findings of your Tutorial Paper with the rest of the class. The expectation is that in the week you submit your Tutorial paper you will attend your tutorial and contribute to the group discussion. Hand in your written version of the paper to your tutor at the end of the tutorial. Make sure to have an electronic copy of the Tutorial Paper you have submitted to your tutor. The criteria for assessing your Tutorial Paper include:

- attendance at tutorial
- contribution to group discussion (via the panel discussion)
- introduction/conclusion (in written version)
- argumentation (in written version)
- style and presentation (in written version).

If due to extenuating circumstances you cannot attend the tutorial you have signed up for, contact the course coordinator to organise an alternative. This will involve a new topic question, and will be available only to students who can provide a medical certificate or proof/documentation of extenuating circumstances (workload issues are not extenuating circumstances).

*This assessment relates to objectives 3 and 4.
