Communication of additional information

This course uses Blackboard and presumes that all enrolled students have valid myvuw.ac.nz addresses. Please check that this account is active and you have organised email forwarding. Additional information and any changes to the timetable or lecture and seminar programme will be advised by email, announced in lectures, and posted on the course Blackboard site.

Prescription

This course will consist of a survey of historical and contemporary thinkers in the western philosophical tradition. Authors to be studied may include Plato, Aristotle, Descartes, Locke, Berkley, Hume, Mill, Bonjour, and Goldman.

Course learning objectives (CLOs)

Students who pass this course will be able to:

1. integrate disciplinary knowledge and skills developed at 200-level in the field of epistemology
2. articulate original and useful philosophical theses or provide original arguments in support of contentious philosophical theses
3. engage in original and ethical research in philosophy under close supervision

Teaching format

PHIL 301 is taught in two 2-hour lectures per week. A Lecture Programme will be available on Blackboard.

Mandatory course requirements

There are no mandatory course requirements (except for achieving an overall pass mark of 50%).

Workload

This course has been designed on the assumption that students will devote approximately 200 hours to it throughout the trimester. This is an average of 14 hours per week across the 14 weeks of trimester. This includes attendance at 24 lectures each week. The remainder of your time will need to be shared between lecture preparation and making progress on assignments.

Things to consider when planning your time:

- Essays and other written assignments may require enough time for location, retrieval and reading of a range of sources. Note-taking, planning, drafting and editing the draft will all be necessary before writing up a final version.

Assessment

Assessment items and workload per item		%	CLO(s)	Due date
1	Essay (4,000 words)	30%	1, 2, 3	Friday 26 September, 1 pm
2	Six in-class quizzes	30%	1, 2, 3	See below
3	Final Exam	40%	1, 2, 3	tba (during examination period: from 24 October – 15 November)

(1) Essay

WHERE TO HAND IN YOUR ESSAY: You must submit your essay electronically via Blackboard. Please consult Blackboard for instructions). This electronic version may be sent to turnitin.com, an anti-plagiarism website, and is the version that will be graded. However, as a back-up you must also submit a paper copy of your essay to me in class or to the School office (MY 518), prior to the due-date.

ESSAY TOPICS: students may formulate their own essay topics; sample topics will be handed out in class at least 2 weeks prior to the due date.

HOW TO WRITE YOUR ESSAY: Students are expected to do some original research by identifying and engaging with relevant papers located through PhilPapers, Philosopher's Index or Google Scholar. If you get stuck, or don't know how to begin then come to see the Course Coordinator in her office hours or make an appointment to meet with her at your convenience. You may request comments on a draft, provided some advance notice is given. See the handout "Assessment criteria" (at the front of your course reader) for general advice on writing a philosophy paper. Model papers written by previous students are also available on request. I highly recommend P Martinich, Philosophical Writing, Blackwell, 1996.

HOW WE MARK YOUR ESSAY: See the handout "Assessment Criteria..." (at the front of your course reader) for a statement of the criteria that I use in marking essays.

(2) In-class quizzes

These are short-answer tests, taking the first 20 minutes of class time, every second Friday of class (i.e. 25 July, 8 August, 22 August, 19 September, 3 October, 17 October). There will be six quizzes, but only your best five quiz marks will count towards your final mark. The quizzes will be on material from the previous lectures and you will be given review questions in advance.

(3) Final Examination

This is a 3-hour closed-book examination. The exact date will be set later in the trimester by the university, but it will be during examination period (between 24 October and 15 November 2014).

Submission and return of work

Essays should be submitted in hard copy through the School Office essay drop-off point, Murphy Building (MY518) and electronically through Blackboard, together with completed cover sheet available on Blackboard or from the office by 1.00 pm.

When marked, quizzes will initially be returned to you in lectures. Marked essays and quizzes will be available from the School Office Murphy (MY518), between 2.00-3.00 pm Monday-Friday.

Extensions and penalties

Extensions

Make-up quizzes will not be given, although the lowest quiz grade will be dropped for each student. For essays, all extensions must be obtained from the course coordinator, prior to the deadline for submission of the assessment task unless unforeseeable circumstances prevent this. Short extensions of up to 3 days will be automatically granted to any student who requests it with an email prior to the scheduled deadline. Longer extensions need to be negotiated and require justification and supporting evidence. Any work submitted late without an extension having been obtained is subject to penalties (see below).

Penalties

Philosophy Programme policy stipulates that late submission of essays is penalised. Late essays submitted without extensions having been obtained will receive a penalty of 5 points per day (or part thereof) late. No essay will be accepted after 12 November 2014.

Set texts

- PHIL 201/301 Course reader (Student Notes), available from VicBooks, www.vicbooks.co.nz
- The readings for the last section of the course will be made available on BlackBoard.

Recommended reading

See separate class handout for the schedule of assigned readings.

Class representative

The class representative provides a useful way to communicate feedback to the teaching staff during the course. A class representative will be selected at the first lecture of the course. Students may like to write the Class Rep's name and details in this box:

Class Rep name and contact details:

Student feedback

Enhancements made to this course, based on the feedback of previous students, will be covered during the course.

Student feedback on University courses may be found at www.cad.vuw.ac.nz/feedback/feedback_display.php.
