Prescription

This course familiarises students with social theories of violence and security in various contexts. We consider state violence, hate crimes, collective violence, torture, terrorism and interpersonal violence. We debate ethical and methodological problems of researching violence and social policies aimed at reducing violence.

Course learning objectives (CLOs)

Students who pass this course will be able to:

1. Recognise and debate key themes in the sociology of violence.
2. Theorise violence within specific social contexts (family, community, armed conflict).
3. Debate the methodological ethics of researching different kinds of violence.
4. Debate social policy interventions which aim to reduce violence in specific social contexts.
5. Develop skills in locating and evaluating academic literature.
6. Develop skills in reporting on and synthesising academic literature.

Teaching format

Teaching consists of a two hour lecture per week and nine tutorials. Tutorials follow the lecture they share a topic with. Thus, the first tutorial is on Thursday afternoon in the first week of lectures with the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday tutorial groups having their first tutorial in the second week of lectures. Tutorial dates for each group are posted on Blackboard.

Enrolment for tutorial classes will be done using the S-Cubed system.

A list of lecture and tutorial topics and dates is available on Blackboard.

Mandatory course requirements

In addition to achieving an overall pass mark of 50%, students must:

- Submit all assignments
- Sit the in-class tests

Workload

The expectations are that students will work 10 hours per point, therefore a 20-point course equates to 200 hours over the trimester. This includes scheduled contact time, individual or group study, and work on assessment tasks.

Your poster should:

- Summarise the text.
- Describe the empirical methods used in the research and why those methods were chosen.

Assignment 2: Case Study Statement of Purpose and Bibliography
Length: 500-600 words (for the case study) and a bibliography
Minimum 3 items, may include primary sources, must include at least one scholarly article, chapter or book
Date: 8 October 2014

Weighting 10%

Option 1: A Violent Event or Situation

Select a specific case of violence that interests you and you can locate sources about. Your chosen case could be famous, for example a terrorist attack, hate crime or instance of genocidal violence. If you want to cover a major event, such as a genocide or war, it would be best to select a specific instance of violence within it rather than talk about the whole event. You may choose to focus on a personal experience of violence if you feel confident that you can maintain an academically analytical stance toward it and will not find this too distressing.

Your statement of purpose should describe the case, why it interests you and suggest possible approaches to analysis of it in terms of course themes and concepts.

Option 2: Violence, Security and Social Policy

Select a social program or intervention that aims to reduce violence and/or increase security (for example, airport security rituals, restorative justice, action research methods, hate crime legislation).

Your statement of purpose should describe the policy or program and suggest possible approaches to analysis of it in terms of course themes and concepts.

Your essay should describe the case and offer an analysis of it. Your analysis should draw on theories and concepts covered in the course.

Tutorial assignments and participation

Weighting 10%

Complete and hand-in five tutorial response sheets for at least four separate tutorials. You must attend the tutorial associated with your response sheets. Tutorial dates, readings and a template for your response sheets are available on blackboard. Length: approx. 300-400 words.

Additionally you must attend the tutorial on ethics where students will share and discuss their research posters and the tutorial on case studies where students will share and discuss their case study statements. If you cannot attend a required tutorial you must contact Carol and supply appropriate documentation (e.g. medical certificate or notification of specialist medical appointment etc.).

Submission and return of work

All written assignments should be uploaded through Turnitin.

Additionally, a paper copy of the Case Study essay should be submitted to the Assignment Box at the SACS Administration Office, Level 9, Murphy Building (to the side of the lifts), by 4pm on the due date. Your essay MUST NOT be placed in individual staff pigeonholes, or under staff office doors, or handed to lecturers or tutors. The Assignment Box is cleared at 4pm every day. All work is date-stamped, recorded and then handed to the appropriate markers.

Marked assignments not collected in lectures or tutorials can be collected at the Murphy 9th floor reception desk, between 2.00 and 4.00 pm only from Monday to Friday. When the assignments have been marked and are ready to be handed back a notice will be posted on blackboard.

Extensions and penalties

Extensions

Assignments are due on the dates stated. If for some serious reason you don't think you can get an essay in on time, see your course co-ordinator prior to the due date and discuss the problem. Extensions of time are not permitted except for illness or bereavements. For the case study essay extensions may be granted because of examination time table constraints.

Penalties

Late submissions for student assignments in all Sociology and Social Policy undergraduate courses are subject to a penalty. The exact deduction will be calculated on the basis of one half mark per day late for each 10 marks, i.e. 1 mark will be deducted each day for an assignment worth 20% of the total course mark.

Note: assessment work will not be accepted for marking more than 7 days after the due date or 7 days after an approved extension date. Work must still, however, be submitted to meet the mandatory course requirements.
